THE supreme court of Ohio has effectually broken up the barbarous practice of railroad conductors in kicking tramps off their trains between stations. Under decision of the court a passenger, ven when he steals a ride, can only be at off at a regular station. Where the oor fellow who had to steal a ride and got kicked off found money enough to take his case to the supreme court, the decision doesn't show.

THE enormous cost of funerals is again acting attention in New York. A leading undertaker of that city declares that the most economical funeral which e can possibly have with any regard decency costs $200. The funeral of two actors burned in the Brooklyn ater, at which there were ten car ges and two very plain caskets, cost 55, and was considered cheap at that.

J. J. VALENTINE, superintendent of bullion department of Wells & rgo's express, has made his annual ement of the treasure product of the e and territories west of the Missouri r for the past year, which is sumized as follows: Gold, $44,328,000: er. $41,536,700. Great care has been n in separating the gold from the r product. Nevada leads, with $40,-.000; California, $18,615,800. The tement corrects many erroneous ories on the silver question.

THE idea which England is endeavormpress upon herself, that Russi aid to go to war with Turkey, is the absurdest notion that the year has furnished. I was sitting alone towards the twilight,

Some homely work I was doing

In the endless need of repair.

For the child of my love and care, Some stitches half wearily setting,

The work some day to be tried, And that only the gold and the silver,

And the precious stones should abide

And remembering my own poor efforts, And wretched work I had done,

And I have so longed to serve him, And sometimes I know I have tried; But I am sure when he sees such building He will never let it ablde."

Just then, as I turned the garment,
That no rent should be left behind,
My eye caught an odd little bungle
Of mending and patch-work combined.

ad something blinded my eyes, h one of these sweet intuitions

Dear child! She wanted to help me,

I knew 'twas the best she could do But ch, what a botch she has made it The gray missmatching the blue!

And yet—can you understand it— With a tender smile and a tear,

And a half compassionate yearning I felt she had grown more dear.

Then a sweet voice broke the silence And the dear Lord said to me, "Art thou tenderer for the little child, Than I am tender for thee?

Then straightway I knew his meaning,

For I thought, when the master-builder Comes down his temple to view,
To see what rents must be mended
And what must be builded anew.

Perhaps as he looks o'er the building,

He will bring my work to the light and seeing the marring and bungling And how far it all is from right.

He will feel as I felt for my darling,

And love for me was the spur.

"And, for the true love that is in it, And because it was willing service,

FOR THE CURE OF FEVER AND AGUE. OR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is coutinued in smaller doses for a week or two tended to. atter the disease has been checked, more require any aid to keep the bowels i good order Should the patient, however. require a cathartic medicine, after havng taken three or four doses of the tonic,
